A unique 2015 wall calendar reveals the beauty of nature in photographic art and offers visionary quotes from great thinkers to inspire love and responsibility towards our beautiful home. The calendar highlights seasonal cycles and stars, notes on natural history and a unique set of eco holidays. Each month features an outstanding environmental group collaborating in the global renewal of relationship with Earth. Some of the 2015 groups featured are Bioneers, California State Grange, Audubon Canyon Ranch, Transition US, Sonoma Clean Power and others. What makes this calendar unique is the synthesis of visual beauty, poetic language and practical actions, all of which serve as a motivation and reminder to love the earth as if we really mean it. It is a beautiful and practical gift for yourself or others. Earth Loving Lens is a not-for-profit organization created by California photographer Leslie Curchack and profits from the sales of 2015 calendars will be donated to Daily Acts, a sustainable living group in Sonoma County, California.
